

Who cares about being 1st?

The American Indians were here first, but the colonists did not care. This is common belief in America - sometimes we don't care about who's first. Use examples from your own life or use the internet to explain five examples of how people ignore who's first.

Example - in 1999 Mr. D was the first person to wear black framed glasses. This was about 10 years before it was really popular. Do you know what happened? No one cared and no one remembers that I had those glasses. First doesn't mean anything!
